It's a Big, Wide, Wonderful World for Class of '59!

STEAK AND LOBSTER — PUNS AND PRIZES

A beautiful, sunny day at Thompson Pond in Otisfield, Maine, was host to the Annual Senior Class Picnic. As the students rolled out of the bus after the inspiring speeches that morning, they eagerly demolished the sandwiches and picnic lunch.

Intermittently during the afternoon, enthusiastic softball games and badminton matches were held. Many dared to behold the cool, calm waters of Thompson Pond; boating also prevailed on these same blue waters. For those less cold-blooded, group singing, ping pong games and piano playing were to be seen and heard in the old barn by the babbling brook.

At six-thirty the dinner-bell gonged, beckoning everyone to the steaming lobsters and the sizzling steaks. A "fantabulous" time was had by every member of the senior class. This was a day not to be forgotten soon.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY INITIATION

At 3:30 p. m., on Wednesday, May 27, thirteen of the fourteen members of the National Honor Society left in the crackbox from the girls' gym. The Irelands, the Emerys, and the Jacobs acted as chaperones on the picnic, which was held on Kazar Lake at the Vintons' house. As soon as the destination was reached, all of the members piled out of the bus and headed for a swim—all except the four old members, however John Vinton, Steve Yeaton, Linwood Small, and Ruth Willard accompanied Mr. Vinton to the lodge where they collaborated to think up some real scary induction tricks for the new members after the swim, everybody headed out to the point where Chefs Ireland and Vinton were hollowing the familiar call of "Come an' git it!" The new members, John Todd, Mark Freeman, Don Christie, Pete Wheeler, Mary Jasper, Ruth Stevens, Jane Greig, Pat Probst, and Harriet Kneeland all agreed—with the rest of the group—that the hamburgers and the fillings were tremendous. A war-canoe ride was in store for everyone next, and by the time everyone was back on shore, it was about about that time! What time? Why the induction time, of course! For about an hour, with Mr. Vinton's help, the new members were officially indoctrinated into the society, much to the delight of everyone present. By the time that 9:15 rolled around everyone was pleasantly full, tired, and ready to head back to G. A. It was agreed by all that this had been one of the finest National Honor picnics ever held.

On Friday, June 5th, 1959, at 9:00, the seniors, led by the class marshal, Pete Karpowich, marched into the gym to the familiar strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" for the annual class day exercises.

The first item on the program was the class skit, which consisted of various selected members of the senior class giving bits of philosophy and, in so doing, erecting a ship, one part being added by each person. The class gift was then presented to the school by the class president, Kirk Newsom. Various dramatic, science, and mathematical awards were given to deserving members of the senior class. A number of sports and various other minor awards were then presented. The melody of "It's Almost Tomorrow" echoed throughout the gym chorused by the members of the senior class singing different words making up the class ode which applies to their years at Gould. The seniors then had a recessional with tears in their eyes but heads held proudly erect realizing that after four years of difficult work, as well as fun, graduation was nearly upon them; thus ending the Class Day Exercises for 1959.

CAMERA CLUB EXHIBIT

June 1st through 7th the Camera Club will hold its 18th annual spring exhibit, the goal towards which a year of Club activities have been aimed. 1959's showing promises to be the best one yet. In addition to the Camera Club prints displayed in the basement of Holden Hall, there will be seventeen from each of the two outstanding amateur photographers, Mrs. Jane A. Heim and Mr. John P. Montgomery, both of Florida. Their work will be displayed in room 106 in Hanscom Hall.

Mrs. Heim began exhibition work several years ago and the success she met with then has long since been equalled and surpassed; her work has won medals in salons all over the country. Mrs. Heim specializes in child portraiture, still life, industrial design, and textures of various objects.

Mr. Montgomery began his exhibiting at about the same time as Mrs. Heim and has met with equal success, being ranked 10th in salon ratings in the world last year. He is an avid sailboat-racing enthusiast; most of his seventeen prints to be displayed are sailing pictures, the majority having won medals all over the world, but there are also a few high-key still-lives in addition to these.

All in all, this year's Camera Club exhibit promises to be of interest to everyone, whether they prefer action, simplicity, or off-beat things. It is sincerely hoped that all will take time to stop in at the exhibit; it is sure to be a good one.

SUNDAY MORN WITH THE SENIORS

The West Parish Congregational Church became hushed and quiet on Sunday, June 7, 1959, as the organ prelude was played by Mr. E. Ward Steady at 11:00 a. m. Following this the congregation rose as the serious-faced seniors, the class of '59, marched to their seats in time to the strains of the processional, Pomp and Circumstance. The service ran as follows:

Invocation:

Rev. Richard M. Hamilton
Minister, Methodist Church
Bethel, Maine

Anthem: The Choir
"The Lord is My Shepherd"
Nobel Cain

Scripture Reading:

Matt. 19:16-22; Job 28:20-28
Rev. Richard M. Hamilton

Anthem: The Choir
"Ave Verum" Mozart

Prayer:

Rev. Clifford W. Laws

Gould Hymn:
The Congregation and Choir
Sermon: Dr. Carl S. Weiss

Benediction:
Rev. Clifford W. Laws

The radiant graduates passed silently up the aisle as the recessional was played by the organist. And thus another Baccalaureate Exercise came to a close.

Realizing their responsibilities, the seniors strode dauntlessly forward, each with some goal in mind. Courage, fortitude and strength, ye seniors, as you face the world with its many and complex problems.

Much appreciation and gratitude is in order for the kind services of the organist, Mr. E. Ward Steady, and for the choir director, Mr. James B. Owen, for their help in making this exercise the success that it was.

SPRING CONCERT

On the warm May evening of the 22, Gould presented its annual Spring Concert in the William Bingham Gymnasium. The glee clubs and band, under the direction of Mr. James Owen, are to be congratulated for their fine work and sincere efforts in making this a most enjoyable musical evening.

COMMENCEMENT—1959

On June 7, 1959, at 2:00 p. m. the Gould Band began "Pomp and Circumstance" while the graduating class marched in the traditional colors, two by two to their seats before the speakers' platform in front of William Bingham Gymnasium. Leading the processional march was Pete Karpowich '60, class marshal.

After the invocation presented by the Rev. Clifford W. Laws, the Varsity Glee Club sang "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor." Harriet Kneeland next gave her Salutatory Essay, after which the band played the "Washington Post March."

Sidney W. Davidson, B.A., L.L.B., and L.L.D., President of the Board of Trustees, was the guest speaker. He delivered the most effective and interesting address, "A Career In Education," after which the Varsity Glee Club sang the moving selection, "Halls of Ivy."

W. Linwood Small presented the Valedictory Essay to the audience, followed by the announcement of honors by Mr. Ireland.

At last the big moment for which the seniors had worked four years arrived as Dr. Sidney Davidson officiated the awarding of diplomas.

Following the benediction presented by the Rev. Richard M. Hamilton, the class of '59, now alumni, recessed, only to face a new world and retain old memories, of which Gould will always be a glowing factor.

COMMENCEMENT BALL

On the night of Saturday, June 5, 1959, Gould Academy students, parents and teachers were greeted at the door of the William Bingham Gym by underclassmen ushers. They at once proceeded to lead the guests to the receiving line which consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Ireland and the senior class officers. With introductions and greetings over with the couples took in the decorations which were provided by John Vinton and his committee. The ceiling was festooned with a roof of gold, white and blue streamers; the walls were covered with appropriate silhouettes of graduates, caps and diplomas, suggesting the graduation that was only hours away.

As the Gordon Howe Orchestra struck up the music the couples covered the floor. With the boys in summer tuxes and the girls in light, airy gowns, a gracious picture was formed to the onlookers. Early in the evening all lined up for the Grand March, which was led by Kirk Newsom, the class president, and his date. After this the dancing continued until intermission when refreshments were served by white jacketed waiters. With the food devoured the dancing resumed. During this time the seniors were spotlighted in a special waltz, reminding them that this was their last dance at Gould. As the evening drew to a close, we could all agree that the last dance of the year was enjoyed by all. Thanks go to the students and faculty under the leadership of Mr. Anderson for making this dance the success that it was.

A NEW BEGINNING

We generally think of commencement as a time of leaving—leaving the hallowed, ivy-covered walls of your alma mater, bidding farewell to your classmates and friends, and receiving your final grades in Chemistry or English IV.

The dictionary definition of the word commencement is "a beginning," and when you receive your diploma on graduation day, you are beginning a new life. It is the aim of the high school to prepare you for that new life—be it college, business school, or that first job.

It is the beginning of your life as a responsible adult—a welcome addition to your community. In this life you will make new friends, hear opinions that you never thought existed on subjects about which you never took the time to form opinions, and in general be subjected to a whole new approach to life.

Times may be hard. The benefits of a college education are not the social prestige and glitter of yesteryear, but the rewards of a keen mind and sound reasoning powers that are developed through years of perseverance and study. That first job is harder to hold than you thought, because you have so much to learn.

Remember as you clutch that oblong sheaf of white paper that your parents and teachers have been striving to impart to you the best of their knowledge and experience so that you won't make the same mistakes that they made. As you face the world of tomorrow, hold fast to the ideals and knowledge of a civilized world that has endured for over four thousand years. S. S. H.

VACATION — NOW WHAT?

At the end of a school year, the frequent suggestions of your elders or those in the "know" advise you to look back over the year's record to find your faults and realize what you might have done better. But this is of secondary importance, for the thoughtful student will always strive to improve his record regardless of past success or failure. What one should consider is the summer ahead—those three months of welcomed departure from studies. This is the time when you can apply what you have learned from life's adventure as well as in the classroom. Armed with this knowledge, you face a summer with its complex pattern of adventure and problems.

Some of you are going abroad. Some of you will travel throughout the United States. Or perhaps you plan to visit South America or Canada. Many more of you will stay at home. A majority of you will work. Everyone will meet new people and make new friends. You can see how different this summer will be for each of you—as diversified as the number of students at Gould.

The real question to now ask yourself is: Am I resourceful enough to cope with any new situation? Could I be tolerant of another's viewpoint? Could I discuss democracy or civil rights with a foreigner (or even another American)? Could I be a good representative of American youth so idealized by less fortunate foreigners? Could I assume responsibility on a job and do this work to the best of my ability?

Ask yourselves these few questions, my friends, and you will see that the analysis important at this time is not one of a past record but rather the truthful appraisal: AM I PREPARED?

Seniors Worth Knowing

EVELYN WINSLOW

Evelyn Winslow, known to all as "Evy," was born on September 30, 1940, in Lewiston, Maine. Living in Bethel all her life, she attended Bethel grade schools before she entered Gould. Since entering Gould, Evelyn has been noted for her faithfulness to the F. H. A. as well as in girls' sports. In F. H. A. Evy, who was secretary her sophomore year and president her senior year, was an outstanding member, serving as District Chairman this past year, also.

In the field of sports she has been particularly active on the softball and volleyball teams, although she enjoys all sports. During her high school years she has also participated in archery, badminton, hockey, hiking, basketball and tumbling.

Evelyn has revealed her talents in music by taking part in the girls' glee club and the Christmas Vespers all four years. She is also an active member on the "Blue and Gold" staff and the editorial board of the Academy Herald her senior year. She also is a member of the Girls' A. A. Council this year.

One can easily see why Evelyn became a member of the National Honor Society this past spring.

Evy's hobbies include stamp collecting, movie stars' autographed pictures, and especially swimming.

During the summer, one usually finds this fine young lady skillfully waiting on tables at the National Training Laboratories here at Gould, although this summer she will be supervising our school's dining room. We know she'll do a wonderful job.

Next fall one will find Evy, always with a cheerful smile on her face, on the campus of Burdett College in Boston, taking advanced secretarial studies, and we know she'll surely be a sweeping success. Best of luck always, Evy!

SALLY WEBBER

Sally Webber, known to all her by her swinging ponytail, was born on January 23, 1941, in Durham, New Hampshire. She lived there until she moved to Boston in 1952, and she came to Gould in 1955.

As for her hobbies, Sally loves to paint and draw. She has been noted for her wonderful jobs on the posters which she has often done for different activities. She also enjoyed decorating for The Mikado, formals and the Senior Play. In the winter she may be seen trying her skill at schussing the slopes or skating on the rink.

Sally was the class treasurer this year and was also on the Girls' Athletic Association Council. Other activities which she has participated in are being a member of the Camera Club for four years, and this year she was a member of the reportorial staff of the Blue and Gold.

Next fall Sally plans to attend Chamberlain School of Retailing, and without a doubt, will do very well. The best of luck to you, Sally.

MARK FREEMAN

A familiar sight to any Gouldite is the black beret of Mark Freeman as he dashes around the campus.

Mark was born in Berlin, New Hampshire, in 1941, and has since lived in Bethel.

Mark has led a very active school life, during his four years here. He has been manager of the track team and this year is assistant manager, as well as an active member, showing special skill in the high jump.

Mark's trombone has been in the band for seven faithful years, as he first joined it while he was in the Bethel Grammar School.

Having had his license for four years, Mark is very qualified and efficient in attending to his job as audiovisual operator for our movies and dances.

Mark has also made a name for himself in the field of dramatics, participating in the one-act plays for three years and the senior play this year.

With all this to occupy his time, he still has a very good scholastic record. Taking a college course dealing mostly in mathematics and sciences, Mark's record was good enough to qualify him for the National Honor Society this year. He also attends a special course in advanced science taught by Mr. Emery.

In the future, he plans to take a five-year course in Electrical Engineering at Northeastern University. Thus as Commencement nears, a lot of well-merited credit goes to Mark along with a sincere wish for success in the years ahead.

ANN CARTER

A very active member of the senior class in Ann Carter. Born in Berlin, N. H., she has lived in Bethel all her life. Ann is known for her good disposition and for her friendliness to all. She loves sports, music, and cars.

In her four years at Gould she has been found in numerous activities. She has been in many different sports; including the hockey, softball, volleyball and basketball teams.

For music, she is a member of the Band, Chapman Club, and Varsity Glee Club. Other activities to which she gives her time are French Club, "Blue and Gold" staff and Girls' A. A. Council.

Next fall Ann plans to attend Sargent, a branch of Boston University, and to major in physical therapy.

With her personality and her willingness to work, she will be successful in everything she does.

OUTSTANDING GIRLS IN SPORTS

During this softball season we would like to mention a few of the faces seen regularly on the field at this particular time and at other times during the year.

If the seniors are having a game, you're sure to see Lucy Leighton's smiling face and steady pitching arm in action. Although we've missed Lucy entirely from sports this year, she's made a great comeback after her illness to become a fast-playing, spirit-rousing asset to the senior class sports.

Getting away from softball and looking in on the tennis situation, we feel that Sue Saunders deserves recognition for the fine job she has done matching her well-practiced and masterful skills against those of the Kents Hill girls. Not only a tennis player, Sue shows great ability and promise on the hockey field, volleyball floor and the ski hill. Keep up the good work next year, Sue.

Sparking the sophomore softball team on first base is Sue Rock, a fast and clever girl on the diamond. Sue has tried her skills in skiing, bypasses basketball and hockey pretty much but is often seen on the tennis or volleyball courts. Keep up the old chatter, old girl!

Behind home plate and a freshman star is small but peppy Claudia DeMonte. A real good softball catcher with an exceptional arm for would-be stealers, Claudia has participated in practically all sports this year making a fine start for a freshman. You'll hear this name many times before she graduates: Claudia DeMonte.

HOME ECONOMICS TEA

On May 21, the Home Economics girls once again had the opportunity to show their talents in tea serving. If you had happened to attend this tea in the Cottage between three-thirty and five-thirty, you would have been greeted at the door by the senior girls who served as hostesses and pourers, namely: Irene Allen, Meredith Bennett, Phyllis Coolidge, Nancy Davis, Sue Dennison, Joyce Gilman, Wanda Kimball, Harriett Kneeland, Norma Korhonen, Eleanor Lord, Carolyn Mills, Marjorie Morton, Pat Philbrook, Julie Reynolds, JoAnn Roderick, Alberta Rugg, Barbara Sprague, Ruth Stevens, Margaret Tyler, Evelyn Winslow, Gail Gorab, Janice Hague, and Laurel MacPherson. The attractive delicacies were prepared by the junior girls. The sparkling cottage's appearance was due to the diligent work of the freshmen. If you had peered into the kitchen, you would have seen the sophomores busily replenishing the servers with clean dishes! Upstairs in the Cottage a display had been arranged, showing samples of the year's program. Each girl was responsible for bringing one garment that she had made during the year. The ceramic students had displayed their year's work, which indeed showed great workmanship. The program of Home Improvement was well revealed by the refinished tables and chairs, and the pillows and curtains that had been made by various students. A hearty, "Well done, girls!" is due all those responsible, and sincere thanks to Miss Whitney for her supervision and guidance.

F. H. A.

The F. H. A. girls have been putting forth their best efforts recently to raise enough money to send a delegate from this chapter to the National FHA Convention in Chicago. The goal has finally been reached, and Dixie Lea Brown will have the honor of attending this convention during the week of July 13th. The proceeds from the bottle drive held during an activity period recently brought in more than needed to complete the fund. On Friday, May 15th, a picnic was enjoyed by all even though bad weather kept us inside the cottage. The installation of next year's officers was held at this time. They are:
 President—Sylvia Benson
 Vice-President — Nancy Lincoln
 Secretary—Louise Lincoln
 Treasurer — Dixie Lea Brown
 Reporter—Loretta Blake
 Parliamentarian — Elizabeth Jackson
 Historian—Sharon Nowlin
 Song Leader — Tamarra Daye
 With the capability of our president, Evelyn Winslow, and advisor, Miss Whitney, and the co-operation of each member our chapter has indeed flourished this year.

KENTS HILL

SPORTS DAY

On Saturday, May 9, the girls' teams from Gould Academy boarded the 7:45 a. m. bus bound for Kents Hill and a rousing day. Under the expert command of Rollie Glines, the bus reached safely its destination at 9:30 a. m.

Each team—varsity and J.V. softball, tennis and archery—made its way to its respective field for a half-hour warm-up practice preceding the 10 A. M. games, which took place simultaneously.

After playing seven innings while the sun was at its best, the softball teams retired to the locker rooms. The final results: The J. V.'s carrying a 28-4 victory which was gained by playing heads-up ball plus two home runs by Beth Anne Brown; the varsity carrying a loss on their shoulders due to errors, some excusable but many avoidable. It must be mentioned, however, that good sportsmanship was maintained by both schools' teams throughout the games.

Retiring from their field with a joyous gait, the archery girls announced that they had been victorious by a final tabulation of Gould, 237, and Kents Hill, 205; Gloria Burris being the high scorer for Gould.

The tennis team came very close to a victory through hard playing but fell a little behind with a close 7-6 loss.

On May 23, the Kents Hill and Gould tennis and archery teams had a re-match on Gould soil. The results, however, were much the same: Gould was defeated in a close 4-3 tennis match and the archery team was also closely defeated. Much work and time spent was evident as the opposing girls matched skills.

GOULD VS. FRYEBURG

With a combination of Sumner and Edwards on the mound, Gould took Fryeburg Academy for an 8-5 loss. This was not a conference game but was a good one for experience. Gould got all of its eight runs in the first two innings. Edwards pitched five innings with four strikeouts, six walks, and seven hits. Sumner took the last four with four strike outs; he walked one and allowed three hits.

GOULD DROPS GAME

TO BRIDGTON

The Huskies of Gould Academy dropped an important game in the South-western Baseball Conference to Bridgton, 9-5. The sweltering heat did not help the Huskies' cause as Al Sumner had trouble stopping the red-hot Bridgton bats.

The Huskies took an early lead 5-0 on timely hitting and errors by Bridgton. This was the last real Gould threat. Hitting well for the Black Hawks of Bridgton were Turner and MacDonald.

This loss to Bridgton put Gould in a tie with South Paris for first in the Conference. With only a few games left, the final stretch of the season should prove very interesting.

GOULD VS. MEXICO

Cracking out a 360-foot two-run homer in the last of the seventh inning, Al Sumner batted and pitched his way to a 2-1 victory over Mexico to cinch a tie for first in the Western Maine Conference on May 29, 1959.

Mexico picked up its lone run in the top of the first on a walk and a triple, giving them a lead which they held throughout the game until the final frame. Although Gould hit the ball hard, they were not able to force a run across the plate during the first six innings. The break came when Watson singled and, one batter later, Sumner connected to end the game. In addition to the big blow, Al pitched a good game, appearing stronger as the innings marched on by.

The tie with South Paris will probably be played off on either June 4 or 5, a hard-fought game between the two leaders being expected.

GOULD VS. NORWAY

With an 11-6 victory over Norway, Gould's skill in baseball was soon apparent. Gould racked off five runs in the first inning before Norway could stop them. Gould got three more in the third. Finally the Huskies knocked in their last three runs in the final three innings of play. Sumner did a great job in pitching the entire game. Bob Felt had a good day, smacking a triple in the first inning.
